the Illinois ballot, most of his almost 400,000 votes would have gone to Nixon.

It is now felt that because of recent developments and the general mod of the country, Wallace would probably run far stronger in Illinois in any new third-party venture.

As judged by his impressive the primaries in northern states this year, Wallace would be expected to run considerably better in most heavily populated, industrial counties in Illinois than he, did four years ago.

It is considered almost certain he would do better in Cook 95, of the vote in 1988, actually a half-a-percentage spoint below his; statewide average.

In 1968, Wallace made his strongest percentage showings in the smaller Illinois counties, chiefly those in the very lowest tier of the state, near rhe Ohio the Mississippi River.

AFTER FIVE GENERATIONS in the same family, the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Roman has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Oshall Warren. Located on West Pontoon Road, the house has 10 rooms, two baths, two fireplaces and a basement. Built in 1895, the two-story home has many unusual features. Stones for the foundation were hauled from Alton in oxen wagons. The staircase, bamisters, facings and posts of solid horn maple are hand-carved in a Gothic design. Both fireplaces have hand-carved mantles with French tile inserts. There are hand-done doors with stained art glass transoms. The basement contains a special wine room built at a lower level, where German and French wines were made. The grounds include three acres of land and a five-room caretaker cottage with fireplace. Both the buyer and seller were represented by J. C. Cochrane of the Cochrane-Wolf Real Estate Agency. Dance Tuesday Night

and of a Compromise on Regional Airport acceptable If it Calls for Postponement Reports circulating this morning indicated efforts to reach a "compromise" at a meeting which may be held Wednesday on the much-discussed question of establishing a second major airport to serve the bi-state metripolitical meeting today.

The specific basis for agreement was unclear. One report suggested that certain Missourians would drop their opposition to a Columbia-Waterloo, Ill., site if land acquisition would be geared to establish a "land bank" available for future development rather than for immediate airport construction.

This kind of deal would be a serious mistake because it has been apparent for many interest of the state of the st

Transfer of Aged in Hospitals Giving Them New Zest for Life

The Geriatric Transfer Program at Alton State Hospital and other Illinois institutions is giving elderly patients a new outlook on life and a new start in community Ilvins.

Gov. Richard B. Oglivie in 1989, provides for geriatric patients to leave the confines of a state mental institution and live in the community atmosphere of the program of the p tion, the dien hespital—before the start of the program—had reached a geriatric population of 317, or about 39% of the total population. "Elderly citizens," Dr. Alient, Class, dien of the best, J. Glass, dien of the best, J. Glass, dien of Mental Health, said, "often live in mental hospitals, not bēcause they are mentally ill, but simply because they have no place else to go."

Since the start of the program in September 1989, the placement teams at Alton have been successful in transferring the successful in transferring the successful in transferring the successful in the successful in the successful in a seven-county area through the work of placement teams intwo sub-region zones. The northern sub-region corner in Edwardsville, helps place the successful in Edwardsville, helps place and clinton counties, Dr.

Jane Josse, director of the region, said they deal with 37 nursing homes or shelterd care facilities, with the largest amount of placoments in Alfon. Dr. Milton Freedman, director in East St. Louis said it helps to place patients in St. Clair, Monroe, Washington and Randolph counties. The placement there deals with 40 community facilities and actively make the places patients in about 30 of places patients in about 30 of the facilities.

The program, Dr. Glass transfer of the elderly patients into community facilities, but is the program of the program, the statewide mental health facilities had a geriatric population of more than 7,000 persons, and through this spring that had been reduced to slightly more than 3,000. The other state hospitals and 1869 and now are. Manteno, 1,736 to 573; Elgin, 1,111 to 378; East Moline, 406 to 217; Galesburg, 339 to 339; Poorla, 503; Poorla, 504; Chicago-Read, 718 to 213; Cankace, 331 to 570; Jackson-ville, 606 to 136; and Anna, 248 to 129.

SHELTERED CARE. These residents of the Illini House Sheltered Care Facility, Springfield, take advantage of an occupational arts class. The classes aid the residents in making belts, signs, and liquid embroidery. Such programs are part of and liquid embroidery. a project started in 1969.

ALTON STATE HOSPITAL geriatric wards have been moved from a barracks-type building to an air-conditioned structure with single and double rooms, each with clothes lockers, a desk and chair There are shower facilities, and the former mental hospital environment has been ended.

NEW, MODERN FACILITIES are afforded geriatric transfer patients. The Springfield facility provides two beds in each room, with individual dressers and stands. Each room has its own bath-room. Occupants formerly were confined to state mental institutions.

TYPICAL OF THE PAST at Illinois state hospital geriatric wards, with beds crowded along the walls and in aisles, impeding fire safety, privacy and bedside treatment. Patient populations since have been reduced and conditions have been improved.
